About Cockayne

Cockayne is a private foundation based in San Francisco and one of the successor foundations of Columbia Foundation, a ground-breaking philanthropic foundation founded along enlightened principles in 1940 by Madeleine Haas Russell, mother of the current President of Cockayne and her brother, William Haas. True to Madeleine Haas Russell's belief that young people can best discern the priorities of their time, in 2013 Columbia Foundation's assets were divided between three successor family foundations designed to involve the next generations in giving. Cockayne is committed to carrying forward Columbia Foundation's commitment to make a difference for the good with special focus on how this is achievable in the arts.

Cockayne currently supports a wide variety of arts-related projects in San Francisco and in London through a donor-advised fund, Cockayne Grants for the Arts, held at The London Community Foundation.

Cockayne Grants for the Arts 10TH Anniversary Application Guidelines

2023 marks Cockayne's 10th anniversary of grant giving in the Arts.

Grant making is focused on arts projects in London that provide opportunities to artists from diverse cultures for the creation, development, performance, or exhibition in the performing (music, opera, dance, theatre) literary, or visual arts.

Current priorities are:

1. New work or ground-breaking re-interpretations of classic repertoire that demonstrate the potential: for artistic excellence, to reach large and diverse audiences, and/or to make a significant, new contribution to the art form.
2. Art that is experimental, risk-taking, and/or engages controversial issues.
3. Projects that involve young artists.
4. Arts-related library, literacy and archiving projects

The goal is to support art as a way of enriching life experience.

Please note: Arts projects that are primarily focused on social/political advocacy, community arts and arts-education programmes are not a funding priority of Cockayne - Grants for the Arts. We do not provide core funding or fund digital arts projects or films, including the filming of productions. Please do not apply if your project falls into one of these categories.

Grant size

- Average grants range from £1,000 to £25,000.
- In addition, to celebrate Cockayne's 10th Anniversary 10 exceptional grants of £100,000 will also be awarded this year. Please note: Applications at this level will only be considered for projects with a budget of £500,000+
- Applicants should not apply for more than 20% of their overall project budget and must demonstrate clearly how additional funds for the project are to be raised.
- Capital campaigns are considered only rarely, when the improvement of the home of an arts organisation is its highest priority. Capital-campaign grants tend to be considered in the same range as programme grants.
- Multi-year grant applications are not encouraged and are considered only very occasionally.

Geographic priority

Cockayne - Grants for the Arts is open to UK arts organisations delivering proposed work in London.

Not for profit status requirement

Cockayne – Grants for the Arts only considers applications from organisations which are registered charities. Cockayne – Grants for the Arts does not consider letters of inquiry from for-profit organisations or from individuals. Please note that applicants must also meet LCF's core eligibility requirements.

Deadline for 10th Anniversary Grant applications

Friday 14th July 2023 at 12 noon, submitted via an online application

Please note that applications submitted by the deadline of 12 noon on July 14th 2023 should be for projects scheduled to begin no sooner than mid-March 2024. Please see the instructions below on how to submit your online application.

If you have a particularly ambitious project or pressing artistic need (budget £500,000+) and wish to be considered for one of the ten £100,000 grants, in addition to applying via the online portal, please send a brief preliminary proposal and rationale for support at this level (not more than a page) to the Director of Cockayne, Jo Hedley, by 12 noon 14 July 2023:

info@cockaynefoundation.org. Please note, whatever level of funding you wish to request, you may only make one application for one specific project.

Cockayne Grants for the Arts initiated grants

Cockayne – Grants for the Arts uses a portion of its resources to fund in fields of interest not currently emphasized in its guidelines. These grants may grow into formal parts of the foundation's program in the future, or they may be single, one-time grants. Because these grants are initiated by members of the foundation's board of directors or staff, unsolicited letters of inquiry for programmes outside of the foundation's current guidelines are not considered.

Screening procedures

Cockayne – Grants for the Arts receives many more applications than it can fund each year. Although many applications merit support and fall within guidelines, Cockayne - Grants for the Arts is able to fund only a proportion of the projects submitted. A four-stage review process follows the Cockayne – Grants for the Arts programme application deadline:

1. Cockayne staff review of applications Summer/ Autumn 2023
2. Cockayne Arts Committee review of applications November 2023
3. Cockayne Board review of applications early December 2023
4. Cockayne – Grants for the Arts recommendations to The London Community Foundation (LCF) early/ mid-December 2023
5. London Community Foundation review of grant recommendations December 2023/ January 2024
6. London Community Foundation public announcement of the 2023 10th Anniversary Cockayne Grants for the Arts awards by 02 February 2024

Please note that applicants who have also requested that their projects be considered for a larger award, will be informed in the Autumn whether they have been successful. If not, their application will automatically revert for consideration under the main grant round.

Review of applications

The following questions are also among those considered when reviewing an application for a grant:

1. Benefit – Will the project help the applicant/ organisation grow artistically/ organisationally?
2. Leadership – Who are the project leaders? Success is largely due to the competence, creativity, experience, dedication, and energy of the leaders of the organisations/projects.
3. Cost – What is the cost of the project? Is it sustainable and reasonable in relationship to the overall budget and promised benefits/outcomes?
4. Time frame – Is it realistic and achievable?
5. Likelihood of success – are objectives sustainable? What is the probability that the project will be achieved as described?
6. Urgency – Is the issue urgent, requiring attention on a timely basis; are there special conditions now that increase/decrease the likelihood of success?
7. Need – Does the applicant organisation need Cockayne – Grants for the Arts funding, or is it probable it could secure funding elsewhere?

Grant Acknowledgement

Any organisation that receives a grant from Cockayne Grants for the Arts must acknowledge the fund's support with the following wording:

'Supported by Cockayne Grants for the Arts, a donor advised fund held at The London Community Foundation' and, where appropriate, by the use of the Cockayne and LCF logos.

Reporting requirements

All grantees of Cockayne – Grants for the Arts must provide a report detailing the progress and results of their program as described in their grant proposal. Cockayne is most interested in learning what a grantee thinks is the impact and artistic/ public benefit to date and how the grantee ascertains the results. These reports must provide the following:

1. Narrative summary of the progress that the grantee has made towards achieving the purposes for which the grant was made, which should specifically address the goals, methods/strategies, and evaluation/assessment plan outlined in grantee's original proposal to Cockayne – Grants for the Arts, and any changes thereto.
2. Two copies of any publications or products resulting from the grant e.g. books, exhibition catalogues, performance programmes, music or video recordings.
3. Statement of grantee's compliance with the terms of the grant.
4. Separate financial report for the project showing a comparison between budgeted income and expenses, and actual income by source (list each foundation grant and amount separately) and actual expenses.

5. Separate financial report for the grantee's entire organisation for the current and previous fiscal year, showing a comparison between budgeted income and expenses, and actual income by source (list each foundation grant and amount separately) and actual expenses.
6. For multi-year grants:
 - a. Project and organisational budget for the upcoming fiscal year.
 - b. Summary of funds secured and pending (list each foundation grant and amount separately) for the upcoming fiscal year, including time period covered, for the project and organisation respectively.
 - c. Narrative description of the project or program plans for the upcoming fiscal year.
7. The London Community Foundation would also like you to provide information regarding
 - a. How many people benefitted from the funded work?
 - b. Where the majority of the beneficiaries were (region/borough/town)?
 - c. How the grant impacted your organisation? Did it help leverage any additional funds?

Reports should be forwarded by email to monitoring@londoncf.org.uk and cc'd to Jo Hedley, Executive Director of Cockayne, at info@cockaynefoundation.org. Any publications/ products resulting from the grant and any additional information requested in hard copy should be sent by post.
